

Abstract Of The Disclosure

A telecommunication terminal is proposed, having data input units, which is suitable for data input by character recognition. The data input units therein include pressure sensor elements which act together with a pressure receiving element in such a way that movements of the pressure receiving element on a surface can be detected by the pressure sensor elements and a character recognition unit converts the detected movements into signaling information.